

A Nobel Learning Community

I have misused my iPad by utilizing it during class time for games and other non-educational purposes. Even though I signed an agreement that stated that the iPad was given to me as a learning tool and it was to be used for learning purposes in my classes, I chose to play games during instructional time. I understand that my behavior will cause me the following consequences:

1. My iPad has been taken away for _____ days.
2. I will complete any projects, homework, class work regardless of whether I have my iPad. I will be able to use paper, paper textbooks, and other traditional methods to complete my work.

As a responsible student, I should have known better when I decided to play games on my iPad during class rather than listening and learning. I understand that due to my poor choices I have lost all privileges that allowed me to use an iPad at school. I will only regain my privileges when my teachers deem it appropriate.
